

January 2018

Your donations are making a difference!

As part of its mission to restore and protect the Cuyahoga watershed and adjacent Lake Erie tributaries in northern Ohio, the nonprofit Cuyahoga River Restoration identified the need to raise awareness of the significant role arborists play where trees, communities, and watersheds intersect, as well as emphasize the importance of healthy urban forests to the health of the watershed. More than 150 representatives of tree commissions, municipalities, and the public from 53 communities participated in “Tree Training Intensives” workshops (partially funded by an Ohio Chapter ISA Education Grant administered by TREE Fund), in Cleveland, Lorain, and Toledo, Ohio. The event successfully strengthened connections between these communities and the people who care for their trees, and it helped them share the message that urban forests are essential parts of a community’s infrastructure.

NEW! Find TREE Fund research by topic

If you’ve ever wondered what research TREE Fund has supported related to a particular topic such as pruning, roots, or safety, you can now easily find the answer on the Research Archive page of our website: treefund.org/researcharchive. Search a database of the projects we’ve funded since 2004 using a researcher name, topic, or any other key word, or scroll down the page to find lists of TREE Fund projects compiled by topic. In many cases the project titles link to more information about the work and/or citations.

Coming in the February TREE Fund Bulletin: a summary of TREE Fund research projects that were published or presented in 2017.

Save the dates for 2018 TREE Fund Webinars

Mark your calendar now and join us for all four TREE Fund Webinars in 2018. Our all-star lineup includes Drs. Volunteer Spotlight: Dr. Jeff Iles and Don Roppolo

We are grateful to Dr. Jeff Iles and Don Roppolo for their many contributions to TREE Fund. Both men are veteran Tour riders, and this year they took their involvement to the next level by volunteering to lead the Tour's Mentoring Program (Jeff) and Safety Committee (Don).

As an educator at Iowa State University, Jeff is more than qualified to design a “curriculum” to welcome our new Tour participants and guide them towards a successful first Tour experience. Dr. Iles also serves as the TREE Fund Liaison for Iowa, representing all tree care professionals in Iowa, particularly members of the Iowa Arborist Association.

Roppolo

Don is an Arboricultural Training Manager for The Davey Tree Expert Company and a TCIA Certified Treecare Safety Professional. He is lauded for his deep commitment to safety and thoughtful approach to problem solving, making him the perfect fit for coordinating a safety protocol for the Tour. Thank you, Jeff and Don, for your continuing dedication and important contributions to TREE Fund!

TREE Fund Transitions

TREE Fund is pleased to announce new Trustee leadership for our organization in 2018. Join us in welcoming Brett D. Heinrich (Vedder Price P.C.) and Mundy Wilson Piper (Chippers Inc.) to our Board of Trustees. Brett comes to us with deep expertise in environmental law and the ways it can impact municipal planning, real estate transactions, waste management and utility work. Mundy is the President and CEO of the Chippers Inc. tree and lawn care company and will serve as the special liaison to TCIA on our Board. We are also happy to have Randall Miller, PhD, BCMA (CN Utility Consulting) back on the Board as the new Chair of the Liaison Committee.

We are also pleased to announce Steven Geist, BCMA, RCA (Swingle Lawn, Tree and Landscape Care) as our new Chairman of the Board, Arnold “Beau” Brodbeck, PhD (Gulf Coast Research & Extension) as Chair Elect, and Thomas Wolf (The Davey Tree Expert Company) as Vice Chairman, and Ray Henning (Retired, Austin Energy) as Treasurer.

Thank you to the following Trustees for leading our standing committees:
